Golden Wedding Celebration.

In the swift flight of years many beautiful celebrations come and go, but all vanish in insignificance compared to one—precious alike for its infrequency and its significance—the Golden Wedding. The rare privilege of such a celebration was accorded to the many friends of Judge and Mrs. E. J. Vann Wednesday afternoon, September 16th, and it will stand out a beautiful picture in the memory of all who were present, far down in future years. In daily contact with friends we shrink from voicing our love. We fear to trust mere spoken words with the deep feelings of the heart, and save for the meeting of eyes and the warm hand clasp, we let years pass with love unspoken. How welcome then is the beautiful hour when friends assemble and, with all pride and reserve laid aside, each speaks out of the heart, as at sweet friendship's best—troops of gentle thoughts invest themselves on every hand with chosen words.

As the friends of this beloved couple gathered in their home at the appointed hour, each felt with Emerson, when face to face with warm, true friendship, "the earth is metamorphosed; there is no winter and no night; all tragedies vanish—all duties even; nothing fills the hour but the firm all radiant of beloved persons."

Judge and Mrs. Vann—the former gallant, witty and courteous; the latter, a truly beautiful picture in creamy tints—received in their parlor, and as they heard the many words of love and congratulation poured out on every side, the years fell away as a garment and all ceased to think of fifty years as ought save the years necessary to married life ere it reaches its prime.

Says a wise man: "Happy is the house that shelters a friend! It might well be built like a festal bower or arch to entertain him a single day." Thrice happy then must have been this home for it sheltered not one but many loving friends enjoying with the other in expressing their affection, in tendering their tokens and in the indulgence of tender reminiscences.

Assisting the happy couple in the receiving line were Dr. Henry Vann of Boston, Ga., Hon. Knox Livingston of Bennettsville, S. C., Mrs. W. W. Whitlock and Mr. Archie Livingston of Madison. In the hallway was a beautifully decorated punch bowl presided over by Misses Agnes Patmore, SA, Randell and Clara Coggins, while in the library were displayed many beautiful gifts, including cut glass, china, jewelry, pictures and gold coin to the value of several hundred dollars. Delightful refreshments were served by Misses Helen and Annie Beggs, Stevie Dial, Lilla Fraleigh, Blanche Bunting and Bessie Sanders assisted by Mrs. Walter Overstreet. The color notes, white and yellow, were carried out in detail in decorations, refreshments and in many costumes.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. W. S. Jordan and Miss Ashton Thomas of Jacksonville, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Vann of Boston, Ga., Mrs. Amanda Miller of Cedar Keys, Mrs. Jane Smith of Quincy and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groover of Hickory Head, Ga.

Dr. Mickle delivered an address which was in his happiest vein, full of quaint humor and tenderness. Mrs. Wm. Henry Dial read a graceful original poem, dedicated to Judge and Mrs. Vann, and Col. Knox Livingston read a most beautiful poem from Rev. and Mrs. Beamy of Balmbridge, Ga. Many from far and near who could not be present sent letters, attesting, if further proof were needed, the deep and abiding place this gentle man and lady have carved for themselves in the hearts of all by these years of united unselfish service. With the rest we tender to them our love and congratulations with the wish that upon the remaining years of life there may

"Glow unexhausted kindness
Like daily sunrise shed."

There is a considerable lot of shooting in this town at night. Nearly every night a perfect fusillade of pistol shots may be heard in some section of the town, and the people are complaining long and loud because of it. We know from experience that it is almost an impossibility for the "guardians of the peace" to enter the premises in the act and because we know it, we do not feel called upon to criticize the town officials. But it should be stopped nevertheless. It is both senseless and dangerous, and the perpetrators of this sort of fun ought to have sense enough to know their deed is very dangerous to human life and stop it of their own accord. If their better sense cannot be appealed to then the town authorities should make extra effort to discover the culprit or culprits and the Mayor, upon conviction, should impose such a penalty as will effectually break this kind of "noisy amusement."

A Paying Investment.

This winter the same happy result has followed; a few doses once more banished the annual cough. I am now convinced that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best of all cough and lung remedies. Sold and guaranteed at all drug stores. 50 cts. and $1.00. Trial bottle free."
